Double trouble

Considering the factors bugging people as a whole in diverse ways, running to a long list and still getting longer, some of them self inflicted by human beings and the rest caused by indiscriminate and over-use of nature's bounty, read over-exploitation, two such factors deserve to be accorded prominence. One is the factor of pollution and the other plastic (used for producing an increasing number of products driven by cost concerns and convenience, familiar to even the unlettered sections in the population, namely the ubiquitous shopping bag.) The civic authorities of Mysuru, with unalloyed support of many voluntary groups, particularly the Greens (the outfit promoting organic practices in daily life,) have been waging a losing battle with the trading fraternity in the city to redeem Mysuru from plastic in all its forms. The proportions to which pollution (in its widest meaning, but focussed on environment in media reporting on related issues) has reached, one is convinced that its continued sway is virtually unstoppable.

The country is currently under the Swachh Bharath Abhiyan (Clean India Mission) spell resulting in at least one outcome namely, awareness about the intimate connect between diseases and insanitary living. However, it is only a minor fraction in the country's 130 crore head count that are complying with the practice of consuming unpolluted water and avoiding unsafe food in daily life.

In a monumental case of human indiscretion and irresponsibility, even life-supporting water bodies, namely rivers and lakes, are being fouled up across the country, making a mockery of the people's sentiment of considering rivers as sacred. The resultant sacrilege is unpardonable. Residents of Mysuru, barring exceptions, have chosen to be passive observers in the struggle by voluntary groups for the cause of the city's lakes and also ground water resources. The fact that the 12 lakh or so Mysureans constitute of mix of agents of pollution and activists giving a clarion call not to pollute the living spaces of the city cannot be missed.

The issue of pollution caused by ill-kept automobiles across the country has attracted the attention of the nation's Supreme Court which has described it as "Very Serious" and "Critical Problem." One more dimension has been added to the fallout of pollution, going by a just published report based on a study conducted by adults in India and the US, namely: Exposure to air pollution may lead to unethical behaviour such as crime and cheating. Can anybody disagree with the finding?

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Rabindranath Tagore once said, "Let me not pray to be sheltered from dangers but to be fearless in facing them." Our life in recent decades has been quite contrary to the thought expressed above. We have not faced many wars nor have we faced great plagues that have taken away lives, like previous generations did. Most of us are living the post-economic liberalisation dream where there is much money at our disposal. The education system and the subsequent changes in our society is always striving to make life simpler, easier and more manageable by breaking things into "easy to digest" bites. Our interpersonal skills, too, are limited, with high dependency on technology, which is making our life lonelier. We have fewer reasons to be satisfied with our lives, despite having more reasons to be happier.

Sandals for your sneakers

Beijing: You probably didn't even know your shoes needed sandals, did you? Well, that's because you're not as avant-garde as Sankuanz, a Chinese fashion label that knows just what you need to keep your brand new sneakers looking flawless for longer—sandals, of course. Now, we've featured commercially-available sneaker protectors aimed at sneaker-heads before, but they looked more like artistically designed plastic bags, whereas Sankuanz just went with the "shoes for shoes" idea. They just came up with these bulky plastic and Velcro that can fit your already "sneakered" feet and protect them from, well, wear and tear, I guess, because I don't see these sandals doing anything if it starts to rain. It's unclear whether Sankuanz plans to ever sell these bizarre sneaker-guards, or if they were just a crazy idea for the Paris Fashion Week event, but it definitely made an impact because fashion and footwear-themed news outlest can't stop talking about it.

Sanctuary of Cats

New York: If you passed by Chris Arsenault's home, in Medford, New York, and saw the 300 cats living there, you'd probably consider the 58-year-old retired train conductor a crazy cat person, but that's only because you don't know his history with them.

In the summer of 2006, about two months after Arsenault lost his son Eric, 24, in a motorcycle accident, the train conductor found a colony of young cats by some train tracks, in Long Island. Chris knew just by looking at them that if he left them there they would die. So he took them all home, doctored them back to health, fed them. They in turn helped the mourning father deal with the pain of losing his son. Founded in 2006, The Happy Cat Sanctuary has been funded out of Chris Arsenault's pocket and whatever donations he received over the years. And taking care of over 300 cats is not cheap. In 2016, he spent $101,000 on food and medicine for his felines, and that's administering some of the medication himself, to cut costs. However, he always contacts veterinarians if the medical problem is something he can't deal with himself.

Streamline parking at LIC Main Office

Sir,

The Main LIC Office located on Mysuru - Bengaluru Road is frequented by a large number of people for various reasons. Though there is ample parking space, the visiting public do not park their vehicles properly.

Though the parking slot for four-wheelers and two-wheelers are clearly demarcated, the two-wheelers not only park their vehicles in the four-wheelers slot, but also park their two-wheelers blocking the parked four-wheelers.

LIC Office is a public office and the officials concerned should ensure that the public are not inconvenienced owing to haphazard parking.

There is a security guard posted at the entrance of one building close to the parking lot. I assume that, as there is not much security related work at the entrance of this building, the security staff posted at the entrance of this building may be deputed to streamline the parking.

Borewell contractors urge to allow them to sink borewells

Members of the Mysore District Borewell Contractors Association staging a protest in Lingadevarakoppal on the outskirts of city yesterday.

Mysuru, Feb.12-The Mysore District Borewell Contractors Association has urged the District Administration to allow them to sink borewells in the city.

The members of the association held a meeting in Lingadevarakoppal on the outskirts of city yesterday and discussed these issues.

The Deputy Commissioner has passed an order that the borewells should not be sunk in the district which is an unscientific move, the protestors said and added that the move would lead to drinking water problems in city and rural areas in the district. The farmers also will be deprived of water for irrigation and their crops destroyed the protestors said and urged the DC to withdraw the order. They said that the District Administration had passed strictures in 2013 due to depletion of groundwater following shortage of rainfall earlier and added that a similar order has been passed again which is not correct.

"Last year we had good rainfall and the groundwater was recharged. Hence, the borewells sunk in the district yielded 90 per cent water. Water is available at 200 ft. to 300 ft. and it is not correct to prevent sinking of borewells," said association's Tippeswamy.

There are 65 rigs in the city and at least 1,300 people depend on this for their livelihood. With the DC's new order their lives are at stake. However, there is no information on which department is going to issue the permit. This is leading to confusion, he said.

Grieving father dies while preparing for the last rites of his son

Puttegowda

Bhyra

Mysuru, Feb. 12 (RK&KS)- Unable to bear the demises of his only son, who breathed his last due to illness on Saturday, the grieving father, who was preparing for the last rites of his son, died on Sunday at Belavadi village in the outskirts of city.

While the deceased son has been identified as Bhyra (33), the grieving father, who died while preparing for the last rites of his son, has been identified as Puttegowda (68), residents of Belavadi village.

Puttegowda, who had three daughters and a son, had married his daughters and was looking for a bride to his son Bhyra. In the meantime, Bhyra fell ill and despite consulting various doctors, his (Bhyra) heath did not improve.

As the sickness escalated, Bhyra passed away on Saturday night and his father Puttegowda was preparing to perform his last rites on Sunday for which his relatives, friends and villagers had come. While the body of Bhyra was being taken to the cremation grounds, Puttegowda suddenly fell ill and some of his relatives took him to a hospital while the rest took the body of Bhyra to the cremation grounds for the last rites.

A sudden shock awaited those in the cremation grounds as the news about Puttegowda breathing his last reached them. Puttegowda's wife and three daughters, who were yet to recover from the shock of the death of Bhyra, were inconsolable.

Meanwhile, the village elders began to prepare for the last rites of Puttegowda and the last rites of both Bhyra and Puttegowda were performed together.

Indira Canteens complete one month

Mysureans say Three Cheers!

Mysuru, Feb.12 (Team SOM)- January 12, 2018 saw the inauguration of 11 Indira Canteens across the city. Launched by the Congress-led Karnataka government and run by the District Administration and private food contractors, these canteens are meant to provide subsidised meals to citizens — breakfast for Rs.5 and lunch and dinner for Rs.10. And what's heartening is that these canteens have come in for overwhelming praise from the local people for providing cheap and hygienic food.

Star of Mysore decided to go around the city to check out these canteens and their food and gauge the response of the people. Here's what we saw:

The canteens are meant basically for the poor, daily wagers and the destitute to fill their hungry stomachs at very cheap rates. However, from the response it looks like students, middle class and even people in four-wheelers are making a beeline to the canteens to have a bite or two.

Though there are 11 canteens in city, there is a great demand at canteens located at Kumbarakoppal, CADA Office premises, Alanahalli and opposite KSRTC Suburban Bus Stand. The crowd gathers at all these places three times — for breakfast, lunch and dinner. In other places while the demand for breakfast and lunch is more, crowds thin out at dinner with many eaters preferring homes to the canteens. Hence during dinner, the quantity is reduced and instead, more quantity is supplied during lunch.

Either there was heavy rush or there were many complaints of the food getting over soon. Slowly, the rush came down as people (especially regulars) became aware of the timings of the food served. Now they are coming to the canteens at the time like they would go to any hotel. And the canteens are running smoothly.

Less salt in food

For health reasons or otherwise, many people have complained that salt is less in the food, especially breakfast. What the food contractors say is that every day, breakfast, lunch and dinner have to be cooked for 5,500 people and everything cannot be perfect when such mass cooking takes place. "We are trying our best to provide hygienic food," says Indira Canteen food contractor M.V. Madhu.

"We ensure that food is tasty and hygienic. Officials from the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) check the quality every day. Besides they conduct surprise checks at all the canteens. We view complaints seriously. We deliberately add less quantity of salt. We keep extra salt and pickles in all the canteens. While a few people want the food to be spicy, many others want it to be mild. A few also asked to be served less. We maintain a healthy balance," he says.

"If the food is bad, then complaints must come from all the 11 canteens as we are serving from a centralised kitchen. However, it is not the case. In the coming days, we have plans of adding rasam, greens sambar and mixed vegetable curry," Madhu says.

Students, autorickshaw drivers and others queuing up to purchase tokens at Indira Canteen in Kumbarakoppal.

Indira Canteen staff getting ready to serve food.

What about leftover food? "In no canteen there is leftover food. If by chance there is some food, people come and take it even after the scheduled closing time," he adds.

Cooking technology

Though two centralised canteens have been set up at Kumbarakoppal and Alanahalli, only the one at Kumbarakoppal is functioning now. The work on the latter is still going on and it will begin operations only after Feb.14.

State-of-the-art technology is being used to cook food. To cook rice, a big steamer is being used and 300 kgs of rice can be cooked at a time. There are two big vessels to cook 500 litres of sambar and two steam boxes to cook 250 idlis at a time.

A team of 26 workers have been employed to cook food. They get up at 2 in the morning and start preparations. Cooking breakfast is completed by 6 am and transportation to all canteens will begin by 6.30 am. Lunch preparation will commence at 9 am and will be completed by 12 noon. For dinner, they will begin cooking at 2 pm.

Stringent quality checks

"Every day we visit all canteens and check for quality. We also check the tokens issued to customers. All parameters like distribution system, UGD (Underground Drainage) connection, health of the cooks, cleaning system are checked and we have not received any major complaints till now regarding the quality of food served," says Dr. D.G. Nagaraju, Corporation Health Officer.

All Zonal Assistant Commissioners and Development Officers visit canteens and keep an eye on them. A WhatsApp group has been created for this purpose and the MCC Commissioner has asked the group members to mandatorily upload the photographs of their visit. The MCC Commissioner too pays surprise visits, he adds.

Guru-Shishya relationship has turned business-like

Maharaja's Sanskrit College retired professor Vidwan V. Gangadhar Bhat and his wife being felicitated at the College premises in city yesterday as Pramoda Devi Wadiyar and others look on.

Mysuru, Feb.12 (YDS&NNN) - The Mysore Wadiyar dynasty's contribution to the tradition of upholding the role of gurus is enormous and as a result they were able to provide excellent administration. However, it is regrettable that in today's world the sanctity of Guru-Shishya (teacher-student) relationship has turned business-like, regretted Maharaja's Sanskrit College retired professor Vidwan V.Gangadhar Bhat.

He was replying to the felicitation organised in his honour by V. Gangadhar Bhat Abhivandana Samithi at Maharaja's Sanskrit College on Sayyaji Rao Road here yesterday.

"Wadiyars established one or the other institution all over Karnataka. My intellectual growth is largely due to the gift of the Mysore Palace. I have to pay my gratitude to them and hence however higher we reach in life, we must never forget our roots," he said.

Vidwan Bhat said that he had served in the College for the last 20 years and when the students told him that they wanted to felicitate him, he told them that he would accept the felicitation provided there is someone from the royal family present.

"The presence of Pramoda Devi Wadiyar has given me immense joy. She is grappling with so much of problems and trying to continue the great legacy of the Wadiyar dynasty," he lauded.

Pramoda Devi speaking said, "As a child I had learnt a little bit of Sanskrit and I recite a few shlokas in the mornings and evenings. There is a deep connection between the Palace and the College and hope this relationship will continue."

Melukote Government Sanskrit College Principal Vidwan Umakanth Bhat delivered the felicitation address.

On this occasion, a felicitation volume titled 'Gnanagangadhara' and a documentary were released.

Dr. Gangubai Hangal Music and Performing Arts University Registrar Prof. Niranjan Vanalli, Rashtriya Sanskrit Sansthan Registrar Prof. P.N. Shastry, Dharwad's Shrimad Jagadguru Shankaracharya Sanskrit Pathshala Professor Nyayachoodamani Rajeshwari Shastry and others were present.

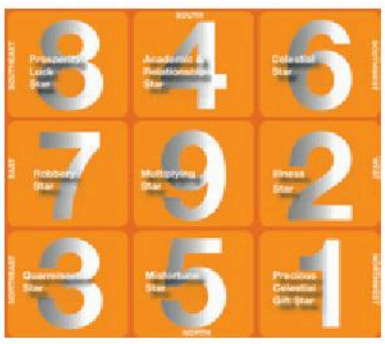
Vaastu-Feng Shui & Bio-energetics

By S.B.S.Surendran
Accredited Master Feng Shui Consultant

2018 Year of the "WU XU" — Earth Dog



The Year 2018 is known as The Year of the Yang Earth Dog — WU XU. Dog is the 11th animal in the 12 Chinese zodiac signs and is part of the Earth cycle in the cycle of the season of five elements in Feng Shui. In the Year 2018, as per the advanced school of Feng Shui referred to as a Destiny Analysis or Four Pillars of Destiny — Bazi (Phat chee) the two main elements in clash are Earth against Earth. The elements are symbolised as Yang Earth element sitting on top of Yang Earth Dog.

Element Yang Earth signifies boulders, rocks and interprets as reliability, solidity and contemplation. However as the elements in clash is Earth against Earth it would be a year which would call for lot of efforts to achieve the goals and overcome obstacles. It would be a year of completions and would not be advisable to make new beginnings. The efforts will not be in vain as the path of progress would give the joy of scaling mountain peak unveiling a breathtaking view. Do not be deterred by the obstacles but pursue your aspirations and goals with focus and determination. Most importantly being calm and co-operative would be the essential quality needed for the year, especially for Zodiac Snake, Sheep, Tiger and Horse. The zodiacs which will have to protect and defend from the afflictions are Dog, Dragon, Monkey and Rat. However with proper protection and care the afflicted zodiac sign can also smoothly sail through the year. Zodiac signs Dog, OX, Dragon and Sheep can carry a pendant of Rabbit to seek support of the zodiac and defend from the yearly affliction.

The Industry forecast for the year 2018 based on the strength and weakness of the Five elements in clash and combine with the year element postulates Wood Industry like publishing, agriculture, plantation will do excellent, Metal industries such as mining, computers, airline, jewellery and heavy engineering will do well. Earth Industries relating to property, real estate, construction, hotel will have to face competition, Fire Industry such as stocks, entertainment, restaurants will be able to sustain and Water Industry pertaining to banking, shipping, transport will have to stay afloat with existing prospects.

To ensure that the home is well protected apart from the advice for the individual zodiac, following basic Feng Shui corrections would be extremely beneficial.

• Place a metal wulou or suspend 6 Chinese coins with red tassel at the West of the house to overcome #2 illness star

• Suspend 6 rods metal wind chime at the North of your home to counter #5 Misfortune star also referred to in Feng Shui as Five Yellows.

• Place a red décor at North East of the living to counter the #3 Disputes/Quarrel/argument star.

• Place 3 bamboo stems in a vase with water at East of the living to protect the house from violence or robbery star.

• Place water feature at South East to activate good luck and wealth or place a bowl with gem stones.

• A figurine of pair of birds or ducks at South of living can activate relationship/romance.

Adapting simple and practical Feng Shui tips for the home and individual zodiac the Year of Earth Dog can be transformed into a very auspicious and prosperous year.

In short by adapting Feng Shui we can sail through smoothly as it is easy to surf with Feng Shui than to fight the tides of time.

People happy with food served at Indira Canteens

Mysuru, Feb.12 (Team SOM)- The general consensus among the people who have their breakfast, lunch and dinner at the Indira Canteens at Sharadadevi Nagar, Alanahalli Circle and Raghavendra Circle is that the food served is really good.

In the reality check conducted by SOM, in all the three places, it is the daily wagers and the students who throng the canteens and express their appreciation. While a few who were savouring lemon rice with chutney for breakfast and commenting that if it was a little more tasty it would have been better, a few others were wise enough to counter them telling for Rs.5 how much more can one expect.

At the Alanahalli Circle on T. Narasipur Road (Ward No.65), the Indira Canteen was packed in the afternoon. Since this is a prominent circle and there is a lot of movement of people every day, a lot of people come here to have breakfast and lunch. A few in the past one month have also had to return disappointed as the food was exhausted.

Anjegowda, who had come from Kumbarakoppal to Alanahalli Circle on business, said that the food was alright. However, for two or three days they had served something like gruel calling it curd rice. "Now it is much better and really looked and tasted like the curd rice," he said.

Asked how the food was, people at Megalapura said that it cannot be compared to home food. But one does get timely food and how much can one expect for Rs.10, is what the elderly Malleshappa asked. According to JSS Women's College students, Rakshita and Nirmita from Saligrama in K.R. Nagar taluk, as they were eating here for the first time food was alright.

The canteen on the Dr. Rajkumar Road in Raghavendranagar (Ward no.55) near Triveni Circle there is not much rush. People come here on Thursdays to eat Bisibele Bath and on Sunday mornings to eat Upma as both are favourites for a lot of them. Here, school students and daily wagers frequent a lot.

When the canteen started, there was good response. Now it has gone down a bit but they hope it will pick up again.

Daily wager Venkatesh was very happy with the food available for Rs.10. Mason Chinnanna said that sambar is generally tasty and aromatic. He appreciated the government for providing cheap food for people like him.

Instead of locating the Indira Canteen between Yeraganahalli and RTO (East), if it was located near the RTO itself then lorry and goods drivers, daily wagers and those coming to the RTO could have had their food there, said lorry driver Santosh.

A boon to urban poor

Mysuru, Feb.12 (Team SOM)- After Anna Bhagya scheme of the State Government, Indira Canteen is another ambitious scheme that has received good response. Though Opposition parties are criticising the government that this programme was launched in view of the forthcoming Assembly elections, there are many who say that it is helping the poor in fighting hunger.

In spite of all the flak, the fact remains that the government, by spending public money and through Indira Canteens, is providing subsidised food for the needy. Financial experts say that canteens are a useful response to high inflation. Fixed price meals can protect the urban poor from the brunt of inflation, they say.

People from all castes, creed, gender and economic classes descend on canteens. From a small businessman, a truck driver and an auto rickshaw driver to schoolchildren, teachers and college students, all shades of people are visible in the canteen premises.

The low cost of food, coupled with the promise of taste and hygiene, has managed to spike the citizens' curiosity. While few of them are unsure of second visits, they recommend that people should try the food at least once.

The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is also playing a big role by providing water, underground drainage and electricity connection, apart from overseeing cleanliness.

In the reality check conducted by SOM on Shantinagar Double Road opposite Beedi Hospital in Ward 54, nearly 500 people eat breakfast every day and about 430 to 450 people have lunch and dinner.

One of the Indira Canteen staff cleaning the vessels.

It was seen that hut-dwellers, autorickshaw drivers, Beedi workers and small-time businessmen consume food here. However, since the quantity of rice and sambar (300 gm) served is not sufficient for many, they buy two tokens paying Rs.20.

"The rice and sambar is tasty but the curd rice becomes stale. The quantity is less. If I purchase one token it will not fill my stomach," daily wager Anwar Pasha said.

"In the morning, if I come even ten minutes late, the breakfast is over. If they extend the timing by another half-an-hour it would benefit a lot of people," said B.S. Venkatesh, a resident of Bharat Nagar, who runs a petty shop.

In the People's Park in Ward 64 where the canteen is located in Govt. PU College for Girls premises, it is mostly PU College students who have breakfast and lunch. Even a few of the autorickshaw drivers, those working in the Maharaja-Complex shops and establishments also make use of the facility, said the staff working in the Canteen.

PUC students Kausalya and Deepika shared their thoughts and said that when one pays so little for the food, it is too much to expect very tasty food.

The scene in the canteen in Cheluvamba Hospital is impressive as the canteen is full all the three times. Even though there are many canteens and food carts around, the response to Indira Canteens is very good.

However, due to leakage of RO (Reverse Osmosis) Plants in all the canteens, it is very difficult to clean the vessels and since the problem has been brought to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner, steps are being taken to rectify it. The work on the compound of all the canteens is going on and it is likely to be completed in another 15 days, said Corporation Officials.

We have been coming to Indira Canteen since the last six days. The food they serve here fills our stomach. Kichadi for breakfast and rice and sambar for lunch is tasty. I come with my friends. All classes of people come here and this is a good programme by the Government.

—Appu, PUC Student, Sheshadripuram College

I come to Indira Canteen only for lunch. The food here is first class. For the Rs.10 we pay, they give correct quantity of food. How much more do we want? This facility is basically for the poor and the needy. This should not be closed down at all.

WORD OF THE DAY

Logomachy

Pronunciation: loh-GAH-muh-kee

Meaning: A dispute over or about words.

Origin: It doesn't take much to start people arguing about words, but there's no quarrel about the origin of logomachy. It comes from the Greek roots logos, meaning "word" or "speech," and machesthai, meaning "to fight," and it entered English in the mid-1500s. If you're a word enthusiast, you probably know that logos is the root of many English words (monologue, neologism, logic, and most words ending in -logy, for example), but what about other derivatives of machesthai? Actually, this is a tough one even for word whizzes. Only a few very rare English words come from machesthai. Here are two of them: heresimach ("an active opponent of heresy and heretics") and naumachia ("an ancient Roman spectacle representing a naval battle").

THE ODD WORD

Cerebrate

To use the mind; think or think about.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Back Seat Driver

Meaning: People who criticise from the sidelines, much like someone giving unwanted advice from the back seat of a vehicle to the driver.

Origin: This phrase got its start from the irritating tendency of some people giving unwanted advice to vehicle drivers. It became popular in the USA in early 20th century, when motor vehicles were introduced and becoming popular.

QUOTE BOX

Advice is like snow- the softer it falls the longer it dwells upon, and the deeper it sinks in to the mind. —Samuel Taylor Coleridge

RIDDLE THIS

A man was driving his truck. His lights were not on. The moon was not out. Up ahead, a woman was crossing the street. How did he see her?

Answer: It was a bright and sunny day!
